OUR COUNCILMEN.

The race between Mr. Rell and Mr. Hubbard for councilman in First ward, was an exceedingly close one, Mr. Hubbard winning by a majority of twelve

Each of the gentlemen are very favorably known and have staunch friends in their ward. Each is well qualified to represent his ward in the council. However the choice of the majority was reflected by the petition requesting Mr. Hubbard to become a candidate. The petition presaged victory for Hubbard from the beginning, and only a man with the popularity and general worth of Mr. Bell could have given Mr. Hubbard so close a race. The successful candidate will make an excellent councilman.

If the race between Bell and Hubbard in First ward was close, that beward was closer, since a change of three votes from Sughrae to Hoover would have elected the latter gentleman. Mr. Hoover's great strength and immense personal following are refleeted in the fact that while running against a regular nominated candidatean opponent stronger than whom none could have been found in his ward. he was beaten in only four votes. It must be remembered the that Mr. However's ever was made by blea to seeme a siggle yore, and the augustience ware he did receive was simply an exponent of the admiration of his friends and a tribute of respect to a most honored citizen. It is easy to enpeeive how vastly larger Mr. Hoover's vote would have been had he been a candidate or had he put forth even a moderate effort in his own behalf

Summersby, our councilman cleet, from the 3rd ward, received a lystrife commenced, and was waged majority last Tuesday which must have with determined purpose, until the been very gratifying to bim, as it certainly was to his friends. Among the many acts consumated on Tuesday, our people deserves especial credit for reinstalling Judge H. M. Beverley to the position of city treasurer, the duties of which office he has performed so long, and with the fidelity, which has ever characterized him in all of his dealings. Uniformly kind and affiable, but self-willed and determined, in the execution of what he is conscious to be right. AN EASTERN WOMAN SPEAKS. She Sustains Miss Clements, the Plucky Little Kansas Cirl. In a recent issue of the Times I notices She was quite a dear friend and from my He has an erroneous impression that beyond the "cultured east" there is nothing but ignorance and godlessness, and of mud huts. In this opinion he is not alone, and like many others, judges from hear-say; whereas, I know positively he has never trasersed his part of the country except through the newspapers. With such ideas imbued in me I cam a few small cities, endless tracts of prairie land and the Mississippi river. Judge | dence that $175 changed hands in a booof my surprise on entering Kansas City dling way by getting brick work done on to find a small New York, with its elegant residences, elevated railroads and and the finest system of cable roads in the country; and all through Kansas were thriving business towns filled with live business men; towns whose growth was visible almost daily.

It is an acknowledged fact that in educational advantages the east possesses superiority over the west, and eastern institutions are largely patronized by western people; but the west is maturing rapidly in this particular, and it is safe to say the time is not far distant when the sons and daughters of the west will pursue their advanced studies nearer home, and where their patronage will be better appreciated.

In staid old New England one stops longer to consider the correctness and appearance of a thing, and the reticence characteristic of the eastern people arises from an old feeling of personal pride and precision, which has been handed down from generation to generation.

Foreigners, as a rule, are more favorable impressed with the customs of the east, and some peculiar mannerisms of the west afford them food for ridicule.

However, although an easterner by education and association, yet I firmly indorse Miss Clements' action in standing up for her state, and must say that in my opinion there was by far more rudeness and a greater lack of good breeding exhibited in the conduct of the principal of the school to his western pupils than in the disregard of conventionalities with which eastern people so frequently dub their western brothers and sisters .- Mrs. H. L. D. in Kansas City Times.

From a Tax-Payer. EDITOR TIMES: In looking over reminiscences of 1887, I notice some facts which will not come amiss at the present time as "pointers," in a quiet way to the old timers. In '87, when Mr. Geo. B. Cox and Mr. H. B. Bell ran for the offices of treasurer and sheriff, what did that gang, clique, band well, and a testimonial of his worth. is usually responsible for these symp. against Mr. Cox for county treasurer Van Vliet, whose means of support were invisible to the naked eye. He occupied a position as clerk or something of that kind, and when deprived of that, had to leave the town or live upon its charity, which was his misfortune; not his fault, for he was considered a good man-vo cally and otherwise, and we, the oldtimers, never made a disparaging remark or said anything derogatory to his character; but he could not sing us into signing the bonds the law requires if elected on the other side what did the schemers do? They used epithets that were inappropriate if applied to horse thieves. and with blood in their eyes and interegation points on their foreheads, they wanted to know who Cox was. I do not wish to rake up old grudges, for everyone knows it only necesitates deodoriz ing, but we marked them down and they shall be remembered. Again Mr. Editor, turn up something in our city affairs, as you all know our candidates. There is Mr. Evans and Swett; the first named is not known in Dodge City alone, but all over the state as one of the most prominent business men in Kansas to-day, and what he has done for Dodge City is not known to his enemies, but recognized with pleasure by all the old-timers, and all the slander and abuse the "Swett-Tarbox" element can set affoat can have no evil influence or reach "Old Dick," as he is well thought of by all the old-timers, and they would rather take his word than the bond of all the Tarbox-Swetts known-or unknown for that matter. I do not propose to blame Mr. Swett. People are not always able to chose their own company. Mr. Swett is a good man in his place, and that he was forced out of it for a short time through the evil influence of the Tarbox clique, no one doubts, and that he is better off where he is, no one can deny. If he should happen to have the misfortune of losing the position he now holds, he would have to leave our town to get another one; and our Van Vliet experience would repeat itself, and to old-timers I would say: "We will have to do as we did before under like circumstancestreat all alike." If one is worthy we will sign petition and bonds, and all shall sign or none. On the other handif not, no one shall sign papers. If refused by one, refused by all. There is a time for all things, and you old-timers should have found it out by this time. You have put up with all kinds of abuse from an outfit who, if they had their just dues, would be playing checkers with their noses; but it is useless to comment on the conduct of such alleged men: I therefore drop them. I take from the Republican of last week, a certain tax-payer gives a lengthy article on the amount of good they achieved: the improvements they accomplished-street grading, sign bonds, city hall, water works, electric light, etc. Now Mr. Editor, I would like to know

f the man callling himself tax-payer intends giving the city such stuff to swalow, and how much of it to a dose. Does the taxpayer think they advise him when he says they made a mistake by letting the contract, and anyone is liable to make mistakes? I say no mistake, but a deliberate scheme to boodle the people's 'stuff" and divide the spoils-that is if the stake-holder could be induced to declare a dividend. I want to ask Mr. Taxpayer if he goes to a store and buys a pound of lead, for which he pays 18c., and next day when he wants another pound of the same article and is charged 55c. for it, will be pay it? Boodle; did that honest tax-payer know how many vards of work Jeff Grant did, and who "O. K." the bill? Boodle. Here is a pointer for the tax payer who gives so much disinterested advise as to how to and that, and so and so. He had better keep his advise for himself, as he may need it when the district court will be in

Mayor R. W. Evans don't want your advise. Speaking of streets and alleys marked chockolate color: Did you see them and how much they cost the city. obtain it. and is a dead expense, and a large profit to some? There is Mr. Editor a good many more points which I shall west a few months ago expecting to find give you in my next. Mr. Tax paver says there is no bootle. I can produce evicity hall building. More next week.
